The Green Audit/Environment Audit aims to analyse environmental practices within and outside the college campus, which will have an impact on the eco-friendly ambience. It was initiated with the motive of inspecting the work conducted within the organizations whose exercises can cause risk to the health of inhabitants and the environment. It is the process of assessing the environmental impact of an organization, process, project, product etc. Green Audit can be defined as a basic management tool comprising a systematic, documented, periodic and objective evaluation of how well environmental organisations, management systems and equipment are performing.

An Energy Audit is an inspection, survey and analysis of energy flow for energy conservation in a building, process or system to reduce the amount of energy input into the system without negatively affecting the output. Reducing energy consumption while maintaining or improving human comfort, health and safety are of primary concern. The primary objective of energy audit is to determine ways to reduce energy consumption per unit of product output or to lower operating cost. Energy audit provides a "benchmark"(Reference point) for managing energy in the organization and also provides the basis for planning a more effective use of energy throughout the organization.

Sree Narayana College, Alathur campus spread over 21 acres of land, more than 17 acres are enriched with bio diversity and the green campus initiatives. The campus is also benefited by solar energy (around 6 KW) in the form of solar lights and other forms. The campus installed solar power generation – two numbers with an installed capacity of 4KW each, the electricity generated is supplied to the common grid, being owned by the Kerala State Electricity Board Ltd., along with solar flood lights – three numbers of 30W each for night-time lighting of the campus. Groundwater recharge facility also maintained throughout the campus. As a continuous process of protecting environment, the college conducts survey in every academic year by collecting the samples of air, water and soil of our campus. It has been found that the bio-diversity of the campus reduces pollution and we have taken measures to improve the purity of the above systems by planting trees and ground -water recharging, reduced use of plastics etc. The audit team collect all relevant information through the observation of the campus, the neighbourhood, adjacent roads, traffic intensity, dust level, movement of staff and students, waste dumps, industries in the region, etc. Besides, NSS formed a unit named Haritha Karma Sena, with the aim of management of plastic waste regularly. They collect all the plastic waste in association with Kavassery Grama Panchayath. For this, women employees are appointed by them. There are three types of bins used in the campus for plastic waste management: Green, blue and red. NSS units also take initiative to collect e-waste and reusable materials are categorized and the balance are sold as scrap. The college in association with KSEB conducts quiz competition with a view to promote solar energy in every year.

The green audit and energy audit including evaluation of Biodiversity conservation have been conducted by the science departments internally until 2021 for the promotion of sustainable living and education in a healthy environment. From the year 2021-2022 onwards the college has decided to do the quality audits especially green audit / environmental audit and energy audit with the help of an external agency. The detailed report provided by them are given below.

S N COLLEGE, ALATHUR

Carbon Footprint Analysis and Evaluation for 2021-'22

The actual per capita carbon footprint for S N College, Alathur, Palakkad, Kerala is 198 kg (0.198 Ton) of CO₂ equivalent [285.3 Ton/(1419 + 21 visitors)] during the year 2021-22. With an offset of 56.6 TCO₂ obtained through remedial actions, the net carbon footprint during 2021-'22 is thus [285.3 - 56.6 = 228.7 T CO₂ eq.].

The effective CF per capita is 228.7/1440 or 0.159 T or 159 kg CO₂ per capita [2021-22]

According to the Economic Survey of Govt. of India, for an Indian in 2021 in 2021 the per capita emission is 1.84 Ton CO₂ eq. per annum. It is projected to increase by 1% in 2022. India's effort for greening is gaining ground with visible lowering of carbon footprints.

For the year 2021-'22, for S N College, Alathur, Kerala, the Carbon Footprint per capita at 0.159 T CO₂ equivalent, is very modest. This is achieved due to the minimal use of resources, increased participation in eco-efficient mobility practices, and experimental introduction of moderate remedial measures like the use of renewable energy and recycling.

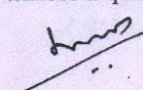

The campus is a 'low carbon footprint' institution, with minimal use of energy, and maintaining the natural biodiversity undisturbed, with potential for attaining Net Zero with economical remedial measures during the years following.

The remediation gap between the assessed footprint and the available remediation is 228.7 Ton CO₂ eq. On a closer look, the major contributors are:

1. Transportation (223.5 T of CO₂)
2. Wastes (20.3 T of CO₂), and
3. Use of Purchased Electricity (16.7 T of CO₂)

The College may seriously consider more remediation options, in spite of its very low CF status. Being a college with moderate use of personal vehicles like the use of scooters/bikes, and cars, the present 78% share of carbon footprint through Transportation is largely due to large number of students daily commuting by bus, as students from outside the town also form a major part of the daily commuting set of students.

The College maintains greenery through maintenance of its extensive natural forest kept in tack, and a butterfly garden, as well as minimal gardening. Investing in Solar photo voltaic power generation in bulk – say a 50 kW roof top PV plant – can offset a good share of total Carbon Footprints, in addition to making electricity purchase burden to nil and earn some money back as well for almost a quarter century.

Campus vegetable garden will provide a solution to managing stress in college. Dr. Araty Sasikumar took initiative for a vegetable garden. When students of neighbouring institution visited Butterfly garden

Butterfly gardens help to increase the population number and through the careful selection of host plants and restoration of habitats, a diverse assemblage of butterflies could be sustained even in urban areas. A garden that attracts butterflies will also bring native bees and birds. They are all really good for the environment and play a role in increasing biodiversity – the variety of plants, animals and micro-organisms and their ecosystems. Here butterfly garden is abode for many species of animals other than butterflies.

3. VEGETABLE GARDEN

This includes setting up vegetable gardens in college which is meant to promote a vegetable farming culture among all sections of society at the individual and institutional level. There are many places for us to get food for various prices that are affordable or at a high price. Gardening is an effort to learn and needs time before it is useful. And after all, there is a reward of fresh produce to eat. Campus vegetable garden will provide a solution to managing stress in college. Students and teachers deal with a lot of stress, a garden can significantly reduce stress by lowering the Cortisol, one of the hormones associated with stress. Getting closer to nature is a great way to reduce stress. This year due to Covid-19 participation of students in gardening was not possible, so Faculty of Zoology department and Health club co-ordinated by Dr. Araty Sasikumar took initiative for a vegetable garden and it was set on July various plants items were planted.

30.VEGETABLE GARDEN - Amaranthus harvest

This includes setting up vegetable gardens in college which is meant to promote a vegetable farming culture among all sections of society at the individual and institutional level. There are many places for us to get food for various prices that are affordable or at a high price. Most of the affordable food is not healthy and this can be the same for higher priced food but most of the time healthy food is overpriced. Gardening is an effort to learn and needs time before it is useful. And after all, there is a reward of fresh produce to eat. Campus vegetable garden will provide a solution to managing stress in college. Students and teachers deal with a lot of stress, a garden can significantly reduce stress by lowering the Cortisol, one of the hormone associated with stress. Getting closer to nature is a great way to reduce stress. This year due to Covid-19 participation of students in gardening was not possible, so Faculty of Zoology department and Health club co-ordinated by Dr. Araty Sasikumar took initiative for a vegetable garden and it was set on July various plants items were planted.
