

REPORT ON EXTENSION ACTIVITY: MICROTEACHING AT SARIGA PUBLIC SCHOOL

The PG Department of English, Sree Narayana College, Alathur, in association with the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), organized an Extension Activity titled "Microteaching" as part of its academic and community outreach initiatives. The programme was held on February 6, 2026 (Friday) at Sariga Public School, Thennilapuram. The event was designed to provide practical teaching experience to third year BA Functional English students while fostering interactive learning for primary students.

The activity was conducted under the leadership of Dr. Praveena Vijayan, Principal, with the strategic support of: Dr. S. Dhiva, IQAC Coordinator; Ms. Remya Rajan E., Head of the Department of English; Dr. Sreedhanya R. and Mr. Anil K. R., Staff Coordinators.

The extension activity was led by the Third-Year Functional English students of Sree Narayana College. The session focused on "Microteaching," a technique where student-teachers practice specific teaching skills in a controlled environment.

Interactive Sessions: Using colourful visual aids and charts based on various Season, vocabulary enrichment etc., the student-teachers engaged the learners in English language concepts. The student-teachers moved beyond traditional lecturing, interacting directly with school children to encourage participation and clarify doubts.

Skill Development: The activity served as a vital platform for the Third-Year students to develop their communication, classroom management, and pedagogical skills in a real-world setting.

The Microteaching session at Sariga Public School was a resounding success, bridging the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical application. The event concluded with a positive exchange between the college students and the school staff, reinforcing the college's commitment to social and educational extension.
